

MRK18 • THE BITTER TRUTH • KNOWS • TELLS • FIXES

MRK18 — Distribution Kit

Built from the Master Pitch Deck. India-first • founder-side • sovereign models.

Waitlist • Design-Partner Outreach • 4-Week Calendar

THE ONE-PARAGRAPH STRATEGY (read this first)

You have two distribution jobs, not one — and confusing them is why this felt murky.

1. First 10 paying design partners (₹4,999/mo). This is hand-to-hand sales. You close these in DMs. The waitlist does almost nothing here.
2. Everyone after that (path to 10,000). This is where the waitlist earns its keep — as a ranked lead pipeline + social-proof counter + content fuel, not a "coming soon" page.

Sequencing: - Now → 22 Jun: Waitlist live and quietly climbing from your build-in-public posts. You spend these days hand-picking and DMing 5 named design partners. No big public launch on the 22nd. - 22 Jun → ~6 Jul: Close DP1-DP10 by hand (~50 personal touches/day, founder = the closer). Every signed partner becomes a build-in-public post. - ~6 Jul onward: Open the waitlist in batches of 20-30, not all at once. Protects a 2-person team, keeps onboarding quality high, manufactures urgency.

The Virtual Device leads the story — as the HOOK, not the product you sell. The VD ("a CMO in your pocket" — records video + voice, analyzes in real time) is a working demo, not production. So split the two jobs cleanly:

- The VD demo earns the click. A 30-second clip of the device watching a real campaign and speaking the bitter truth out loud is a scroll-stopper nobody else in India has. It leads every post, the waitlist, and the DM.
- The watchdog software earns the card. It's the part every founder can actually use on 22 Jun. The demo makes them want in; the watchdog is what they get in to.

The one rule that protects you: show the demo, sell the access. Never let a paying founder believe a physical device ships to them on 22 Jun. Frame it as a queue, not a delivery: "The CMO in your pocket is real — watch it work. We're putting it in founders' hands in waves. Get on the list and you're in line for the device; start with the watchdog today." "In line for the device" = honest and a stronger reason to hold a waitlist spot than software access alone.

PART 1 — WAITLIST LANDING PAGE COPY

Paste straight into Carrd, Framer, or your own page. Keep it one screen. The counter is the most important element — hide it under ~30 signups, show it once you cross it.

Hero (above everything)

Embed the 30-second VD demo video here. Autoplay muted, captioned. The device watching a real campaign and speaking the bitter truth is the page. Everything below supports it.

Headline

A CMO in your pocket. Watch it work.

Subhead

MRK18 is an AI CMO for Indian founders. The device above watches your campaigns and tells you the bitter truth out loud — what's working, what's leaking, the 3 things to fix this week. We're putting it in founders' hands in waves. Get in line for the device — and start with the watchdog software today. Flat fee. Never a cut of your ad spend.

The counter line (show once you cross ~30)

Join 312 founders already in line for the device.

(Until then, replace with a scarcity line instead of a number:)

First 100 founders get founding-member pricing — locked for life.

The form — 3 fields only

1. Email (required)
2. What do you spend on marketing per month? (dropdown: ₹0 / under ₹25K / ₹25K-1L / ₹1L-5L / ₹5L+)
3. What's your #1 marketing question right now? (one line — optional but this is your gold)

✂ Why question 3 matters: anyone who writes a real answer here is a hot lead. Sort your list by this field — those founders go to the top of your DP outreach. The waitlist isn't a list, it's a ranked pipeline.

CTA buttonGet my bitter truth →*Micro-trust line under the button

No spam. No ad-spend cut. Built by founders whose first startup died from marketing they couldn't read.

The 3 proof blocks (below the fold)

1 • WATCHDOG — "Meta is leaking ₹38K/mo. Organic is your only compounding channel." We read past the green arrows.

2 • ADVISER — CMO-grade judgment, grounded in your numbers. "Pause ad set 3. Double the founder-story posts. Budget: ₹0."

3 • APPROVAL-GATED — The brain thinks and commands. You approve every move. Always.

FAQ (3 only)

How is this different from ChatGPT? ChatGPT doesn't know your business and is generic. MRK18 scrapes your site, researches your market and competitors, and is tuned on real Indian founder outcomes.

Do you take a cut of my ad spend? Never. Flat fee from ₹1,999/mo. Agencies and platforms make more when you spend more — we don't. That's the whole point.

Do I get the physical device on day one? The device is in active testing — we're rolling it to founders in waves. Join now to hold your place in line. Meanwhile you start with the watchdog software, which is live today and is the engine behind everything.

Footer

MRK18 — The Bitter Truth. Knows. Tells. Fixes. · mrk18ai@gmail.com

PART 2 — DESIGN-PARTNER OUTREACH KIT

Goal: close 5-10 named founders at ₹4,999/mo, charged from day one. You are the AE. ~50 personal touches/day. Give one real teardown for free in the DM — that's the hook that earns the call.

Step 0 — Build your hit list (do this first)

Pick 20-30 named Indian founders you can reach (not "Indian SaaS" in the abstract — actual humans with a name and a handle). Sources: your build-in-public audience, your network, founders posting their ad screenshots on LinkedIn/X, small D2C/SaaS founders running their own marketing. Rank by: (a) running paid ads now, (b) active on social so you have a public signal to tear down, (c) reachable warmly.

The opening DM — lead with the demo video

Hey [Name] — saw your [post / launch / ad for X]. I built a device that watches founders' campaigns and tells them the bitter truth out loud. Here's 30 seconds of it reading a real one: [VD demo clip]

I pointed an early version at your last campaign and it flagged one uncomfortable thing: [ONE specific, real observation] — e.g. "your CTA sends paid traffic to a page with 3 competing asks, so clicks are up but signups aren't moving".

Not selling anything here — want the full 3-point teardown? Takes me 5 min.

Why it works: the video stops the scroll in a way text can't, then you name something real and ask for nothing. The clip earns the open; the free teardown is the door. Once they say "yes, send it," you're in a conversation, not a pitch.

Note: the DM shows the device demo, but what you actually sell them is watchdog access today + their place in line for the device. Never imply hardware ships to them on signup.

The follow-up after they say yes → the offer

Here's the full teardown: [3 bullet points — what's working, what's leaking, the one move].

This is exactly what MRK18 does every week, automatically — reads your channels, calls you with the bitter truth, hands you the 3 fixes. I'm taking on 7-10 founding design partners at ₹4,999/mo, charged from day one (real skin in the game keeps me honest). You'd be one of the first 10 in India. Want in?

The 4-step email sequence (for warm leads who didn't close in DM)

Email 1 — Day 0 · The teardown (no ask) Subject: The bitter truth about [Company]'s last campaign Body: The same 3-point teardown, in writing. Close with: "No ask here. If it's useful, reply and I'll show you what running this every week looks like."

Email 2 — Day 2 · The mechanism Subject: Why your dashboard shows green while your bank doesn't Body: Explain the watchdog → adviser → approval-gated flow. One line: "It reads past the green arrows so you don't have to learn to." Soft CTA: "Want to be one of our first 10 design partners?"

Email 3 — Day 5 · The proof + scarcity Subject: 3 founders in — 7 founding spots left Body: Share what an early DP saw on their first call (with permission). Scarcity is real: cap is 7–10. "Card on file from day one — that's how I know it's working for you, not just interesting."

Email 4 — Day 9 · The close / breakup Subject: Closing the founding cohort Body: "Locking the founding-partner list this week. ₹4,999/mo, founding pricing held for life. After this it's ₹9,999 at public launch. In or out — either is fine, just don't want you to miss it." Last line makes the no-pressure exit explicit; that's what makes people say yes.

Rule: every DP who signs becomes a build-in-public post within 24h ("DP #3 just got their first bitter-truth call — here's what it told them"). That post recruits the next DP and climbs your waitlist counter. The two engines feed each other.

PART 3 — 4-WEEK DISTRIBUTION CALENDAR

Daily rhythm throughout: ~40% posts, ~60% DMs + comments (distribution is conversations, not content). Two founders, two lanes, never the same beat on the same day. Pritam = field/GTM/DMs. Eric = ships, supplies the "what we built today" proof.

WEEK 0 — Warm-up (Wed 18 Jun → Sun 21 Jun) — product not yet live

Goal: waitlist live, hit list built, first DMs out. No public launch.

- Wed 18: Record the 30-sec VD demo clip — this is your #1 asset; nothing ships without it. Waitlist page live with the demo as hero (Part 1 copy). Post a teaser frame of the device → drive to waitlist.
- Thu 19: Build the 20–30 name DP hit list. Send first 5 "bitter truth" DMs. Post a real teardown (anonymized) as a build-in-public artifact.
- Fri 20: 5 more DMs. Post: behind-the-scenes of the "Your CMO is calling" voice flow (Eric's lane).
- Sat 21: Follow up DMs that opened. Post: "Why we charge design partners from day one" (no-conflict promise). Tease: "Tomorrow it's live."

WEEK 1 — The demo IS the megaphone (Mon 22 Jun → Sun 28 Jun)

Goal: VD demo goes public and drives the waitlist. Close DP1-DP3 underneath. ~50 touches/day.

- Mon 22 (launch day): DO make a public moment now that you have a hero demo — but it's "watch the device work," not "buy now." Drop the 30-sec VD demo across all channels → every CTA points to the waitlist ("get in line for the device"). Underneath the public moment, onboard your warmest DM lead onto the watchdog live and post their first bitter truth. The demo recruits the crowd; the hand-to-hand DP closing runs in the background.
- Tue-Fri: Run the DP sequence hard. ~50 personal touches/day. Each signed DP → a same-day post. Send Email sequence to warm-but-unclosed leads.
- Sat/Sun: First "Bitter Truth Weekly" — a public campaign teardown. SEO + brand + list from one asset. End every post with the waitlist link.
- Counter check: show the number on the page the moment you cross ~30.

WEEK 2 — Close the cohort (Mon 29 Jun → Sun 5 Jul)

Goal: DP4-DP10 closed. Cohort capped. Waitlist climbing on DP receipts.

- Run Email 3 + 4 (proof + scarcity + close) on everyone warm.
- Daily build-in-public proof: each DP's first call, each fix that worked.
- Friday: "Closing the founding cohort" post + email. Manufacture the deadline.
- Saturday: Bitter Truth Weekly #2.
- By end of week: 7-10 DPs paying, cohort closed, waitlist with real social proof.

WEEK 3 — Open the gates, in batches (Mon 6 Jul → Sun 12 Jul)

Goal: convert the waitlist — controlled, not flood.

- Mon 6: "Founding cohort closed. Opening 25 spots from the waitlist this week." Invite top 25 (sorted by question-3 answers + spend).
- Through the week: onboard the batch, capture wins, post them. Each batch is a content moment ("next 25 open Monday").
- Sat: Bitter Truth Weekly #3 — now featuring a real customer result.
- Keep batches at 20-30 so a 2-person team never drowns and urgency stays real.

THE 6 THINGS TO DO IN THE NEXT 48 HOURS

1. Record the 30-second VD demo — device watching a real campaign, speaking the bitter truth. This is the asset everything else hangs on.
2. Put the waitlist page live with the demo as hero (counter hidden until ~30; CTA = "get in line for the device").
3. Write down 20–30 named founders, then send the first 5 demo-led DMs today — clip + one real teardown in each.
4. Schedule your Week 0 posts (Wed–Sun).
5. Draft your 4 DP emails from Part 2 into your mail tool, ready to fire.
6. Decide your founding-partner cap (7 or 10) and your public launch price hold (₹9,999) — and stick to it.

MRK18 — The Bitter Truth. Knows. Tells. Fixes.